

SUMMARY OF NZ SPECIAL OPERATIONS FORCES SUPPORT TO THE NZ PRT IN AFGHANISTAN

DEPLOYMENT

1. The deployment of a Special Operations Task Force (SOTF) to Afghanistan was originally approved from late September 2009 for 18 months. This deployment was extended for a further 12 months and ceased on 31 Mar 2012. The initial deployment comprised of 81 personnel and at its height rose to 92 (including LAV crews). It then reduced to a mandate of PSR(S)2 pers for rotations four to six (March 2011 to March 2012). The first three rotations were of six months duration with the last three being four month deployments. The deployment included NZDF support staff PSR(S)2, PSR(S)3 an NZDF Legal Officer, PSR(S)2, PSR(S)3 to Kabul, Afghanistan.

MANDATES

2. As a constituent part of ISAF, the SOTF had legal authority to carry out the ISAF tasks identified under UN Security Council resolutions 1386 (2001), 1510 (2003) and 1833 (2008). In the execution of ISAF tasks, the SOTF was covered by the Military Technical Agreement (MTA) between ISAF and Afghanistan, and related agreements and arrangements that had been entered into between NZ, NATO and the other Member States of ISAF.
3. In addition, the SOTF could also perform national tasks in direct support of the NZ PRT, NZDF personnel providing training assistance to the Afghan National Security Forces, and other NZ military or civilian personnel who were present in Afghanistan for the purpose of providing humanitarian or reconstruction assistance. Accordingly Task Force (TF) 81 personnel were covered by the MTA between NZDF and Afghanistan when conducting such tasks.

TASKS

4. Insurgents (INS) had continued to target Kabul from safe havens in provinces surrounding Kabul as they become increasingly pressured by ISAF/coalition operations. Targets included government officials and infrastructure, Afghan security forces, ISAF/coalition troops, embassies and hotels. Individual, high-profile incidents were having a disproportionate impact on the perceptions of international actors and the Afghanistan political elite located in Kabul. The capability of insurgents to act would be hindered by improved Afghan security force capacity in the capital and ISAF/National Directorate of Security (NDS) intelligence-led operations to disrupt insurgent networks operating in Kabul. The NZDF SOTF was deployed to maintain stability, defeat the insurgency, mentor the Crisis Response Unit (CRU) and enhance the reputation of the NZDF and GONZ.

SPECIFIC TASKS

5. The SOTF conducted the following tasks:

SECRET

- c. Military assistance, support and influence tasks, including training support and mentoring to the CRU; and
